DAC will convene a formal all-day meeting on May 21st in Barstow. DAC will consider creating a Mojave Trails National Monument subgroup, which will assist and advise BLM on what will go into the Final Management Plan for the Mojave Trails. Folks, this is our chance to ensure that rockhound interests are addressed from the start.

A GREAT DEAL OF CONFUSION surrounds the recent designation of three National Monuments in the California deserts in February 2016 and what the impact will be on rock collecting within them. The three new National Monuments cover 1.8 millions acres: 1.) Mojave Trails (1.6 million acres), 2.) Sand To Snow (154,000 acres), and 3.) Castle Mountains (<21,000 acres). Mojave Trails, which is the largest of the three, encompasses many favorite collecting areas.

Fortunately, the constraints imposed on permissible activities in National Monuments are not the same as in Wilderness Areas. A National Monument designation calls for drafting a Management Plan with public input. There is a timeline for drafting the Management Plan – a final Plan has to be produced within three years.

Unfortunately, it is not clear what is permissible in the interim period. In the May CFMS Newsletter (vol. LIII no.5), John Martin investigated and did not get a definitive green or red light signal. His takeaway was that one should call the relevant BLM office and ask before heading out on a field trip. What BLM allows from one place to another or one outing to another is apt to be handled in a more or less discretionary manner. It appears that prohibitions may be selectively enforced, with non-commercial collecting likely to be allowed as previously until a Management Plan is published.

Based on input from the public (including rockhounds) and special interest groups (such as CFMS and gem-mineral clubs), the permissible and non-permissible activities will be spelled out in the Management Plan. We have the chance – from the

Final agenda will be posted on this page

Agenda for the Saturday meeting will include updates by council members, the BLM California Desert District Manager, five Field Managers, and council subgroups. Focus topics for the meeting will include Route 66 Corridor Management Plan and renewable energy project updates.

Submit written comments prior to the meeting

- Bureau of Land Management
  External Affairs
  22835 Calle San Juan de Los Lagos
  Moreno Valley, CA 92553

- Written comments also are accepted at the time of the meeting and, if copies are provided to the recorder, will be incorporated into the minutes.

The 15-member council advises the Secretary of the Interior, through the BLM, on a variety of planning and management issues associated with public land management on BLM administered lands in the California desert. Public comment for items not on the agenda will be scheduled at the beginning of the meeting on Saturday morning.

Time for public comment is made available by the council chair during the presentation of various agenda items, and is scheduled at the end of the meeting for topics not on the agenda.

Members of the public interested in a particular agenda item or discussion should schedule their arrival accordingly.

start – to give input on what goes into it. We need to ensure that crystal clear language provides an exception for rock collecting within the three new National Monuments. BLM and the U.S. Forest Service will not be knocking on our doors to ask what our concerns are, so we have to tell them, and then make sure the final Plan reflects the input we gave. According to John Martin’s article, the funds are not available to produce a Management Plan. It would be ill-advised for rockhounds to be lulled into taking no action.

Rockhounds need to show up at the many public meetings that will be scheduled between now and the end of the road for the Management Plan, whenever that date arrives. And most important, we need to get our concerns written down and sent to the attention of the right agencies and individuals.

Write a letter

Letters written with constructive, specific comments will improve the odds that protection of rockhounding activities will be written into the final Management Plan. You can write one letter and carbon copy (cc) multiple recipients. It’s just a few extra stamps and envelopes – or mouseclicks, if you email instead. Your effort will have a bigger impact, if it reaches more people who are in a position to support your values. Be sure to spell names correctly and get the titles in salutations right.

Remember to point out to local representatives and BLM that rockhounds bring revenue to the businesses in the areas we visit – gas stations, convenience stores, grocery stores, souvenir and specialty shops, restaurants, hotels/motels, etc. Representatives are pro-business and tend to support economic values ahead of other values.

Be sure to send a copy of every piece of correspondence – e-mail and s-mail – to ALAA (calnatmonuments@amlands.org), so the number of rockhounds in aggregate can be tabulated and tracked. Downstream, it will be helpful to be able to substantiate that x-number of people care about this issue and wrote letters saying so.

Who to send your letters to.

(first and foremost, the Secretary of the Interior)
